S. Insurance & Realty Co.

BY BRUSH & SUTOR.
GRAND RAPIDS, WISCONSIN.

Why have so many earthquakes?
Their only charm is novelty, and that is wearing off.

But the real American demagogue
and urban storm center will be found on the ball ground.

The government printing bill has been cut $2,000,000 the past year.
That helps some in Hawaii.

Fairly valiant man want to wear moustache to hide their mouth when foreign dimes try to talk French.

English courts are enforcing that anti-slapping law. What a change for the tourists in "dear old London!"

Critic says Canadian are breezy, but he may have been introduced to a few who were putting on a lot of alo.

The Philadelphia man charged with having 150 white scattered throughout the country probably does not believe in family reunion.

King Edward keeps up his reputation as a lover of travel, but he can't have the fun he did when the throne was far away in the muck of the future.

There are hopeful about that most of the members of the drama realize that their usefulness depends on keeping their tempers. It's hard, but necessary.

Amateurish boys make a well-assumed pipe while he is at work.
There is no other way by which the teen literary atmosphere can be created, maybe.

The New York legislator who would enact a law requiring all automobiles to have fenders might have gone a little further and asked that no one but a surgeon be allowed to drive a motor car.

W. T. Stunt says he can't understand why a man should stand up for the purpose of letting a lady have a seat in a street car. The need is weary. It isn't likely that he will ever have a seat to offer.

There's something anything which can fairly be called news in the announcement that the defeated president of Louisiana will not go to Mexico. That's what an ex-president is for. In Continent America.

Col. Henry Waterson's latest message home is an expression of his opinion that the people of the United States could visit Spain and take a look around. They would go back home happily well pleased with themselves and their own government.

A New York minister apologized to his congregation from his pulpit the other Sunday for having written a "scurrilous" novel. He said he never would repeat the offense and would do his best to suppress this production. Now if the novel writing lady will go and do likewise, she will forgotten them. Their sins are many.

Not many Americans pass these opening evenings in recalling the philosophy of Hammurabi, but whether they recall it or not, their ways of thinking are permanently affected by this little man who died in the sixth century B. C. He is the father of a hundred laws.

At Pecos, Mexico, a suburb of Mexico City, may be seen what is perhaps the smallest church in the world. It nestles under the shadow of a small volcano. The church is about ten feet high and 12 feet wide.
A couple Mexico says: "Whenever a church is started, the little altar of the church there is barely room for the ground and brick to turn around at the same time."

It was not the heavens, but the collapse of the assembly hall, which fell in on the delegates, who were in the hall before the drama had assembled.
The accident was caused by bad luck,
the rafters with too heavy ventilation apparatus. The drama itself is a good ventilating machine for the Russian unrest. Let us hope, says Yourf's Companion, that it may be heavy enough only to break down Russian oppression.

Mothers and other humane persons will agree with the remarks of a lecturer in the Harvard Medical School, who said the other day, in speaking of the persons who had asked him whether it is worth while to save the lives of diseased babies, "I reply that no baby ought to die. It is the brain which, after all, does the work, before or less well, according to the physical development. We cannot judge between at birth what the individual may become later."

The earthquake season seems to have been fully inaugurated. The shocks which worked devastation in Mexico were followed by others felt across the water, and even the castles in Spain were badly wrecked, though there is no report of actual destruction.

There is a strong suspicion that it will be a good deal easier to establish a place for a colony in Colorado for the relief of the poor from the congested districts of New York than it will to get those same poor to occupy it.

Some of the American railroads are suffering from Florida, which shows that the railroads should be careful not to allow the water to run out of their stock.

Morgan has just invested $1,200, 000 more in works of art. He is probably able to pay the bill out of the money he has saved in not buying stocks.

Pittsburg people will be able to overlook everything else now if their baseball team can only go in and win with decent regularity.

The Syracuse lad who found $1,100 and received a reward of 50 cents must be thankful that it was not a mere $100 or for which he might have been compelled to pay interest.

A Boston street car conductor found $5,829 belonging to a lady, and was rewarded with a smile. It is no mean triumph to find a Boston woman up to the snuffing point.

Surrender by one Central American leader is usually followed immediately by information that another has taken his place.

ABE RUEF PLEADS GUILTY

EX-FRISCO DICTATOR ADMITS
CHARGE OF EXTORTION.

Says He Confesses to Corrupt Practices Because Loved Ones Could Not Stand Long Trial.

San Francisco.—Abraham Ruef, botter known as Abe Ruef, the acknowledged dictator of San Francisco, pleaded guilty to the charge of extortion
in Judge Danneberg's court Wednesday.
Sentence will be pronounced upon him
two weeks hence.

After a private conference with his four attorneys in Judge Danneberg's private chambers Wednesday afternoon, and after they had withdrawn from his case because of the reservation he had taken to change his plea and avoid trial, Ruef, to the utter astonishment of the prosecution, arose in court and announced in a dramatic address that, after long and earnest consideration, he had determined to withdraw his plea of not guilty and enter a plea of guilty. He asked that the jury be dismissed and the trial abandoned. He declared that his sole motive in accusing himself in open court was to save the lives of those who were nearest and dearest to him, his aged father and mother, his widow sister and his niece, who, he said, could not stand the strain of a long trial.

Ruef read his statement from a manuscript which he had prepared in the presence of his attorneys, a few minutes before the trial began. He Circus day is the youngsters' busy time, the glimmer of the spangles is in his eyes just as it was in his dad's thirty years ago when he trudged barefooted to town and carried water for the elephants to get into the show. The circus is an instructive institution and has proven beyond a doubt that athletics and education go hand in hand, that the development of muscle and mind is now a part of the schooling taught in all the great institutions of the world. Parents should teach their children athletics. A weak body or mind is a poor foundation upon which to build a good education. It has been proven time and again that a weak body and mind never made an educated man. A clear demonstration of all these qualifications can be seen in Gollmar Bros' Show when they exhibit here, Friday, May 24.

Disaster to Four.

There isn't much doubt in our mind but what disaster has occurred to at least four of our delinquent subscribers. One man, a farmer and formerly a man of good repute and living a mile south of town, must be dead. About one month ago he said to us on the street one day, "I'll call next Saturday, if I live, and pay up." We haven't seen him since, so conclude that he has gone where so many other good men go—to the "Happy Hunting Ground." Another man said, "I'll see you soon." Well, he's gone totally blind. The third man also remarked that he would pay up Saturday or go to hell. There are some prospects in sight that he has seen him since. The fourth gentleman of wearing "cloth" who wore a fine Stetson said, "I'll pay Monday or eat my hat." The hat's gone, for the man is running around town bareheaded and all he's got to show for the hat or his money is a pack of cards in the pistol pocket of his pants. We know that the cards are there for the bulge of this identical pocket is too small for a testament.

Will Make a Change.

It is said that the business men of this city will, within the next week circulate a paper for signatures petitioning the St. Paul road to run its evening passenger train through to Minocqua, instead of having it lay over at Tomahawk, as is now done. People from points above Tomahawk, who have business to transact in this city are compelled to come down on the evening train and if their business happens to be before the land office which does not open until 9 o'clock in the morning, they are obliged to remain over all day and until the following morning, before being able to get back home. If the evening train was run through to Minocqua, leaving there in the morning, it would be possible for these people to come down on it, transact their business and return home the same night.—Wausau Daily Record.

Family Curfew.

Merrill News:—Every family should have a curfew which should positively "ring tonight" and every night if needed. These curfews are inexpensive, and can be homemade. Take a piece of siding two feet long and whittle one end down to a handle; then take the child that needs the curfew and bend him over a barrel. Now take the piece of siding in the hand and use it as a clapper. Put it on hot. Divide the strokes evenly and see that none miss. Good for a boy or girl up to the age of sixteen, and applications are warranted to cure the most pronounced case of street loafing that exists. The music this curfew makes is finer than singing, "where is my wandering boy to night?"

KEPT PROMISE TO MOTHER TO MARRY ONLY AN AMERICAN

ROMANCE OF SYBIL KANE AND A. T. KEMP

Hand of Beautiful Southern Girl Was Vainly Sought by Scions of Proudest Houses of European Nobility—Rumor That Heir to Throne Was Among Admirers.

Bridegroom, Young and Immensely Wealthy New Yorker, Has Been Married Before—Couple Will Return to This Country Some Time Next Month.

New York.—After almost if you want to say a fortune, the mother of Miss Sybil Kane made her girl, and Miss Kane gave it. She has married an American, Arthur T. Kemp, a young New York millionaire and society favorite. But in the track of young Mrs. Kemp's honeymoon tour in Europe, she has been seen in the hands of lords, dukes and barons.

And that was just what Miss Augusta Post, the mother who has married again since the death of Mr. Kane, was thinking of when she excited this promise.

"After nothing to do with any of these foreign noblemen," was her last word to her daughter, who has for some time been in Europe. "Most things if you want to, but don't, don't fall in love, I beg of you. Marry an American, as your mother did, and be happy."

Miss Kane is well-bred in her own right and Mr. Post, her stepfather, is a man of means and a broker on "Change." But beautiful as she is, New York society has never known Miss Kane, although the "400" know some. She came with her father, who was a member of the big firm of chemicals, Lamm & Kemp.

Coming Home in June. The young pair intend to return in June. You may be sure that Newport and New York are anxious indeed to see the bride who now takes her place in the innermost circle, just as the first Mrs. Kane did. She was divorced from Mr. Kane four years ago and is now Mrs. Hollis H. Hunnewell, Mr.

Hunnewell was also divorced, his first wife having been Miss Maudie Dancy. If Mrs. Kemp No. 2 has never made her appearance in New York society, Mrs. Kemp No. 1 has. She is the sister of Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Nelson. Her uncle is Frederick Gebhard.

Miss Kane took Europe by storm. Soon she became known as "the beautiful Miss Kane." She made her home in Paris with her aunt, Mrs. A. M. Nelson, No. 3 Place d'Iena, but she traveled extensively. And from the first the Europeans were witten and more than one heart was laid at her feet.

The wedding of the Count. The most ardent of them followed Miss Kane and her elum, Miss Maudie Dancy, of Philadelphia, across this continent and all the way to Europe, but in vain. It was Count Carl Holbach, whose mother was lady-in-waiting to the wife of the prince regent of Bavaria.

Miss Kane met him in the west, where she was traveling with Miss Harrison, just before leaving for Paris. Count Holbach appeared at every city and always at the same hotel where Miss Kane was stopping. She lived a splendid life and before the count or his mother was aware of it the American girl and her chaperone were in New York.

"The next summer took them to Europe, where Miss Kane has been ever since. There she traveled everywhere, from the British Isles, all over the continent, even to Egypt, up the Nile and into the Holy Land.

With her beauty and her wealth she found it easy to be presented at the courts of Europe. Her social success everywhere was most pronounced. Even it was whispered that she had to one of the minor thrones had offered to give up his prospective kingship for the American girl's hand.

But Miss Kane remembered her promise to her mother.

None But an American. "I can marry only an American," she told them all, whether she liked them or not.

Then Arthur Kemp appeared on the scene.

He had gone to Paris three years ago to work calculation from all his domestic troubles. He told his friends he would never tempt matrimony again; that he intended to remain a bachelor for the rest of his days. All of his resolutions were changed in the twinkling of an eye.

At a reception at the American embassy in Paris Arthur Kemp met Miss Kane. He was smitten from

Post, who lives at the Holland house, in New York.

"My promise fulfilled. I have married an American."

And Mrs. Post answered: "A mother's blessing."

Mr. Kemp and his young wife will reach New York within a few weeks. At present they are touring southern France in an automobile. Mr. Kemp's friends are legion here and so the invitations are eager to see his new bride. She has always been a devotee of society, preferring music, literary and charitable work to dinners, dances and the opera.

The Kemp divorce three years ago was a sensation. With such connections as the Reginald Vanderbilts and others of equal prominence the affair kept society busy talking for days and days.

Mrs. Kemp before her marriage was the beautiful "Baby Belle" Nelson. Arthur T. Kemp was graduated from Yale in 1894, and at once took the place here in society and clubbing to which his position and wealth entitled him.

Arthur Kemp's First Love. He was elected to the Knickerbocker and the Union clubs, the two smartest in town, as well as to other clubs of almost as much importance. In due season he met Miss Nelson and in 1897 he married her. The ceremony took place at St. Patrick's cathedral, for all the Nelsons are Roman Catholics, and one of the smartest congregations of the season filled the pews. The late Archbishop Corrigan officiated at the service.

A few days later the young bridal couple were called to the bedside of the bridegroom's dying mother. She expired soon afterward.

The two were apparently perfectly happy until 1902, spending their winters in New York and their summers in Newport. Then there was gossip that the two had become estranged; this proved to be true when Mrs. Kemp left her husband's home and went back to her mother's, No. 100 Fifth avenue. There she lay in wait for the return of the bridegroom, who was with nervous prostration.

As soon as she was well Mrs. Kemp No. 1 determined to take matters in her own hands. She made up her mind to get a divorce in Rhode Island. As the law of that state requires a person to live there a year before he can sue for divorce, Mrs. Kemp took a cottage and remained in Newport for the winter. Meanwhile there was all sorts of gossip. In due season Mrs. Kemp got her divorce. In the interval her sister, Kathleen Nelson, had become Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Kemp's Second Marriage. Then Mrs. Kemp announced her social engagement, this time to Hollis H. Hunnewell of Boston; big, handsome and well-to-do. Only the relatives and a handful of friends assembled for the ceremony, which was performed by Mr. Hunnewell's friend, Judge William W. Douglas of the supreme court of Rhode Island. No Roman Catholic priest, much as the Nelsons would have had it, is allowed to officiate at the marriage of a divorced person.

Mr. Hunnewell took his bride off for a honeymoon trip to China and Japan, while young Mr. Kemp went in the opposite direction—to Europe.

Among the first guests were Mrs. Nelson, the mother of the bride, and her other daughter, young Mrs. Vanderbilt; Julius Nelson and their uncle, Frederick Gebhard. Among the friends were Mrs. Sallie Duncan Elliott and Mrs. Victor Sorohan, who had been Miss Hunnewell.

And some of them barked back to that other wedding years before—so different, with the great cathedral packed and the Nelson house filled with guests.

Married in England. The wedding was at the home of the bridegroom's cousin, Gilmore House, Hitchin, Hertfordshire, England. Mrs. Nelson, the bride's aunt, and a few relatives and intimate friends were present.

And as soon as the knot was tied the bride cabbed to her mother, Mrs. Kane.

The wedding of the Count. The most ardent of them followed Miss Kane and her elum, Miss Maudie Dancy, of Philadelphia, across this continent and all the way to Europe, but in vain. It was Count Carl Holbach, whose mother was lady-in-waiting to the wife of the prince regent of Bavaria.

Miss Kane met him in the west, where she was traveling with Miss Harrison, just before leaving for Paris. Count Holbach appeared at every city and always at the same hotel where Miss Kane was stopping. She lived a splendid life and before the count or his mother was aware of it the American girl and her chaperone were in New York.

"The next summer took them to Europe, where Miss Kane has been ever since. There she traveled everywhere, from the British Isles, all over the continent, even to Egypt, up the Nile and into the Holy Land.

With her beauty and her wealth she found it easy to be presented at the courts of Europe. Her social success everywhere was most pronounced. Even it was whispered that she had to one of the minor thrones had offered to give up his prospective kingship for the American girl's hand.

But Miss Kane remembered her promise to her mother.

None But an American. "I can marry only an American," she told them all, whether she liked them or not.

Then Arthur Kemp appeared on the scene.

He had gone to Paris three years ago to work calculation from all his domestic troubles. He told his friends he would never tempt matrimony again; that he intended to remain a bachelor for the rest of his days. All of his resolutions were changed in the twinkling of an eye.

At a reception at the American embassy in Paris Arthur Kemp met Miss Kane. He was smitten from

Post, who lives at the Holland house, in New York.

"My promise fulfilled. I have married an American."

And Mrs. Post answered: "A mother's blessing."

Mr. Kemp and his young wife will reach New York within a few weeks. At present they are touring southern France in an automobile. Mr. Kemp's friends are legion here and so the invitations are eager to see his new bride. She has always been a devotee of society, preferring music, literary and charitable work to dinners, dances and the opera.

The Kemp divorce three years ago was a sensation. With such connections as the Reginald Vanderbilts and others of equal prominence the affair kept society busy talking for days and days.

Mrs. Kemp before her marriage was the beautiful "Baby Belle" Nelson. Arthur T. Kemp was graduated from Yale in 1894, and at once took the place here in society and clubbing to which his position and wealth entitled him.

Arthur Kemp's First Love. He was elected to the Knickerbocker and the Union clubs, the two smartest in town, as well as to other clubs of almost as much importance. In due season he met Miss Nelson and in 1897 he married her. The ceremony took place at St. Patrick's cathedral, for all the Nelsons are Roman Catholics, and one of the smartest congregations of the season filled the pews. The late Archbishop Corrigan officiated at the service.

A few days later the young bridal couple were called to the bedside of the bridegroom's dying mother. She expired soon afterward.

The two were apparently perfectly happy until 1902, spending their winters in New York and their summers in Newport. Then there was gossip that the two had become estranged; this proved to be true when Mrs. Kemp left her husband's home and went back to her mother's, No. 100 Fifth avenue. There she lay in wait for the return of the bridegroom, who was with nervous prostration.

As soon as she was well Mrs. Kemp No. 1 determined to take matters in her own hands. She made up her mind to get a divorce in Rhode Island. As the law of that state requires a person to live there a year before he can sue for divorce, Mrs. Kemp took a cottage and remained in Newport for the winter. Meanwhile there was all sorts of gossip. In due season Mrs. Kemp got her divorce. In the interval her sister, Kathleen Nelson, had become Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

Mrs. Kemp's Second Marriage. Then Mrs. Kemp announced her social engagement, this time to Hollis H. Hunnewell of Boston; big, handsome and well-to-do. Only the relatives and a handful of friends assembled for the ceremony, which was performed by Mr. Hunnewell's friend, Judge William W. Douglas of the supreme court of Rhode Island. No Roman Catholic priest, much as the Nelsons would have had it, is allowed to officiate at the marriage of a divorced person.

Mr. Hunnewell took his bride off for a honeymoon trip to China and Japan, while young Mr. Kemp went in the opposite direction—to Europe.

Among the first guests were Mrs. Nelson, the mother of the bride, and her other daughter, young Mrs. Vanderbilt; Julius Nelson and their uncle, Frederick Gebhard. Among the friends were Mrs. Sallie Duncan Elliott and Mrs. Victor Sorohan, who had been Miss Hunnewell.

And some of them barked back to that other wedding years before—so different, with the great cathedral packed and the Nelson house filled with guests.

Married in England. The wedding was at the home of the bridegroom's cousin, Gilmore House, Hitchin, Hertfordshire, England. Mrs. Nelson, the bride's aunt, and a few relatives and intimate friends were present.

And as soon as the knot was tied the bride cabbed to her mother, Mrs. Kane.

The wedding of the Count. The most ardent of them followed Miss Kane and her elum, Miss Maudie Dancy, of Philadelphia, across this continent and all the way to Europe, but in vain. It was Count Carl Holbach, whose mother was lady-in-waiting to the wife of the prince regent of Bavaria.

Miss Kane met him in the west, where she was traveling with Miss Harrison, just before leaving for Paris. Count Holbach appeared at every city and always at the same hotel where Miss Kane was stopping. She lived a splendid life and before the count or his mother was aware of it the American girl and her chaperone were in New York.

Ohlmsstead on Trial.

During the past three days the circuit court has been busy with the case of the state against M. L. Ohlmsstead, who is charged with having stolen 15000 cigars from the office of Ottolia & Stendahl at Ellettsville and afterward shipping them to Minneapolis where they were sold. Defendant claims that the cigars were his property, having been included with a deal which he had with the complaining witnesses, and that the cigars were removed in the daytime when there was no attempt at concealment. The case is still on trial at the present time.

RUDOLPH.

Allie Deunston has been engaged by the Chambers Creamery Co. to make their ice cream in their new factory which starts up this week with a capacity of six hundred gallons per day. Allie is an expert. Rudolph will have their first stock fair Thursday, June 13th. Let all good loyal farmers attend with their families. There will be buyers for everything you can bring in with an auctioneer in attendance. This will be a good day to bring in your farm produce and the merchants will have some attractive bargains for you. Remember the better the town the more your real estate is worth, and a good live community is the place people like to locate in. From now on let every farmer around Rudolph boost the coming fair. Just tell it to everybody.

GRAND RAPIDS.

Our last snow fall May 12th but freezing nights continue with but few exceptions. The 14th inst. we had our first good rain and a couple of days of bright warm weather which seemed very encouraging. By the 20th the mercury was again down low enough for ice to form.

F. A. Reid went up town on the five o'clock Wednesday to leave with Dr. Constance on a vacation. Frank Patterson and Timothy Foley drove out to the former's farm one day last week to do a little spring seeding.

Edward Kruger and son Harrison are busy these days putting in the crops on their farm near Dexterville. Alvin Taylor of Armenia arrived Sunday and will remain for a time to work on the marshes.

Mrs. J. J. Emmrich spent a day last week attending the Catholic church fair at Nekeosa.

Mr. and Mrs. Foley drove over to Nekeosa Thursday for the church supper and evening festivities but were obliged to return before the latter took place.

O. G. Malda went to Madison Friday evening to attend the Scandinavian National celebration. Mr. Malda had an honorary position on the program and we have no doubt his paper was listened to with great attentive interest.

Mr. James Gagnier enjoyed a visit as P. Clinton's recently. The Gagnier family and Miss Lillian Warner attended the fair at Nekeosa Thursday evening. We learn the church society dragged a fine sum of money which is so applied to the new school building fund.

Ralph Smith is slowly improving in health, being able to sit up last Sunday for the first time in several weeks.

Miss Goldie Jones spent the week end vacation at home returning to her training school duties first of the week.

George J. Constance of Cumberland spent a few hours recently with old time friends, the Whitlsey families. Mr. Constance was looking after his realty interests and while here sold a forty acre tract to Mr. Ziemann of the town of Port Edwards.

O. P. Fitch of Chicago arrived on the Sunday morning passenger a guest at the H. Fitch home. Mr. Fitch spent Monday at Grand Rapids in company with his nephew and niece J. Fitch and Mrs. E. F. Whitlsey.

On Tuesday at Altford occurred the marriage of Carl Wipfl and Miss Mildred Warner of Manitowish. Congratulations are extended from Grand Rapids where the groom is well known and has spent much time. The sisters families Messlans Ralph Smith, Albert Viertel and Nick Wirtz the Joseph Schiller family, cousins, A. E. Bennett, Misses Lillian Warner and Eva Bennett and Messrs. Emory Bennett and Gilman Warner friends are among those in attendance from Chicago.

Mr. P. Clinton is meeting with marked success with her luncheoners, having already several hundred thrifty little chicks.

Swindlers, fakirs and short change artists keep away from Gollmar Bros. Shows. Most shows of a circus nature betray or deceive the public into believing that their shows are strictly moral when they are harboring a legion of fakirs, short-change artists and swindlers of the lowest type. Gollmar Bros. never deceive their friends or patrons simply because they present all they advertise and allow no fakirs or gamblers with their great moral show. Consequently their exhibitions have a tendency to elevate and enliven the body and mind with bright thoughts and noble aspirations. Gollmar Bros. Greatest of American Shows, all-features triple circus, million dollar menagerie and Royal Roman Hippodrome will exhibit here Friday May 24.

New President for Sherry College.

The friends of the Northwest Collegiate Institute will be pleased to learn that this institution has secured for its president the Rev. R. E. Norton of Las Animas, Colorado. He has resigned from a pleasant and important pastorate, leaving a very devoted people who were most reluctant to give him up, but after the importunities of this new and rapidly growing institution, which is to mean so much to the north west, was put before them they finally concurred with Mr. Norton in his request to be released. The Rev. Norton has already visited this institution and learned with interest its rapid growth, present standing and bright outlook for the future. He is expected in Sherry the first week in June, and will be welcomed back to his native state by his many friends. He is not only known and highly esteemed by the youth of Wisconsin, but by all who know him. He comes well equipped to take up this new work, having been principal in a similar institution for several years with great success.

When the Rev. Agnew, the general manager, suggested the name of Rev. Norton at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the institution last month for president, every one present voted enthusiastically for him. He and Mr. Agnew have been close friends for many years and look forward with pleasure to being associated with each other in this great work. The inauguration of Mr. Norton will take place on the W. C. 1 Commencement day, June 12th at 2 p. m.

On Rev. Norton's recent visit to Sherry he won the hearts of students, teachers and everybody else in the community. The young people were heard frequently to say "We want Mr. Norton for president."

These remarks from students are suggestive of the welcome he shall receive and the boom such a man as president shall be to the institution, possessing all the same traits, as he does the other qualifications.

The Sherry school may well congratulate itself in having captured the Rev. Norton as he had a pressing invitation to another institution of learning in Wisconsin.

Skin Disease Bacilli Killed by Wintergreen.

—Oil of wintergreen—(that simple liquid so well known to every druggist in the land—is just coming to be properly appreciated. Its value long has been known to the medical profession, but only in recent years has it been found that a proper mixture, combined with other soothing agents, acts instantly in all cases of Eczema or other skin diseases, stopping immediately that awful itch.

One of the doctors to whom great credit is due in developing this discovery is Dr. Leonard D. Dennis, who, by combining oil of wintergreen, in proper proportions with several other remedial agents, devised a LIQUID REMEDY that did away with greasy ointments and old-fashioned smother remedies. The medical men were prevailed upon to give the general public the benefit of this lotion in the shape of "D. D. Prescription," now put up by a Chicago house, the company which makes the famous D. D. skin soap.

A few drops stop that awful itch, and continued use means a quick cure for eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, ringworm, dandruff and all other distressing diseases of the skin. Get a bottle of D. D. Prescription today, and stop that itch AT ONCE. Daily Drug & Jewelry Co.

B. R. Shores, the champion of Minnesota, who wrestled with Fred Beell at Marshfield on Friday evening, was easy money for the Marshfield boy. Those who saw the match state that Shores was on the defensive all the time and that he never got a hold on Beell at any time during the match.

Went to Appleton.

Those of our high school boys who went to Appleton to attend the inter-scholastic athletic meet were Harold Arpin, George Smith, Will Damon, Roy Easley, Clarence Jackson, Charles Natwick, Will Meyer and Fred Boser, accompanied by Prof. Schwabe. The boys won two points at the meet, which was made by Harold Arpin in the pole vault. The boys have not been paying as much attention to athletics as usual this spring which probably accounts for the fact that they did not make a better showing.

JURY DISAGREES.

After Nearly Twenty-Four Hours Deliberating Cannot Decide on Neuenfeldt's Guilt.

The jury in the case of the slaying of August Neuenfeldt for murder came in on Saturday afternoon after being out nearly twenty-four hours and stated that it was impossible for them to agree upon a verdict, and they were discharged by Judge Webb. It seems they stood seven for acquittal and five for conviction of manslaughter.

Those who listened to the evidence of the case and heard the proceedings all the way through, were almost unanimously of the opinion that the jury would be out a short time, and that the verdict would be one of acquittal. As time went by, however, and they failed to bring in a verdict, it was evident that there was a probability of a disagreement.

It seemed by the evidence that the state had rather a weak case. There was no doubt that the man Marshall had been the effect of a blow or bump received during the time he was engaged in a quarrel with Neuenfeldt, but just how he received the blow was not clearly established in the evidence. One witness who saw the whole row stated that the two men had come together in the saloon, and that Marshall had used some insulting language to Neuenfeldt, and that the latter either slapped or struck the man and that they went to the floor together. Then they had separated and Neuenfeldt had gotten to his feet and delivered several kicks to the prostrate man and retreated to the bar, after which Marshall had followed him up and reached into his pocket, supposedly in search of a knife. Then Neuenfeldt had picked up a heavy iron pipe and struck Marshall, who upon this decided in his attack, and discovered that his head was bleeding. He was advised to go to a doctor, which he did, and the wound dressed. Upon examination the physician found that he had received only a small cut on the head which hardly went thru the skin, and the wound was dressed and Marshall went about his way, apparently feeling none the worse for his experience.

Later in the day he went into the saloon and lay down there and went to sleep, and when discovered by the police he had been unconscious and was about dead, and he died before anything could be done for him. A post mortem examination showed that the skull had been fractured and that a large clot of blood had settled on the brain, causing the man's death. The prosecution claimed that the fracture of the skull had been caused by the blow from the pipe, while the defense maintained that it might have been caused by the fall of the two men, as when they came to the floor they struck some empty beer boxes which stood in one corner of the saloon. The two physicians, Dr. Waters of Nekeosa and Dr. Pominville of this city, who conducted the post mortem examination, were on the stand as witnesses, and testified that the blow that caused the man's death was apparently only a light one, also that his life might have been saved had he not been under the influence of liquor and been able to notify his friends of his difficulty.

It was brought out in the trial that Marshall was a man of a quarrelsome disposition, that he had carried a large pocket knife, and his reputation was that he was ready to use it when necessary to further his ends in a fight. In fact he had used a knife on one occasion, during which he stabbed a man who came near dying from his wounds. All the witnesses called on this matter testified without hesitation that Marshall had a bad reputation, especially when under the influence of liquor, and was considered a dangerous man.

Neuenfeldt testified that Marshall had shown him a knife which he carried and had shown him how to use it in case of a fight so that the weapon could not be seen.

The case continued until nearly supper time on Friday afternoon both of the attorneys putting up a strong argument for their side of the case. The judge made his charge to the jury after supper, which took nearly an hour, after which the sheriff took them in charge to await a decision. Many thought that the jury would reach a verdict in a very short time, and those who had been taking an interest in the case hurried down to the court house Saturday morning to learn what the verdict would be and were surprised to learn that the jury had not yet reached a decision.

Neuenfeldt, who weighed about two hundred pounds at the time of the tragedy, is now but a shadow of his former self, and would hardly be recognized as the same man, it being evident that the trouble has preyed on his mind, causing him many sleepless nights and days of anxiety. The jury disagreeing in this case will make it necessary to try the case over again.

Game for Sunday.

Miss Clara Stamm spent Sunday and Monday at the Geo. Warren home.

PLAYED GOOD GAME

Negroes and Whites Battle for Ten Innings with a Score of 6 to 4 in Favor of Coons.

Monday afternoon was rather chilly in more ways than one for the home team, on which occasion they met an aggregation of colored ball players that managed to run in six scores while the home team were making four. At the end of the ninth inning the score stood four to four and another inning had to be played during which the colored men got two runs, while the home team failed to cross the plate.

The visitors went to bat first and the home boys played rather loose ball, and before they found out where they were at the darkies had pounded out four runs. The coons seemed to hit the ball at will in this inning and several two baggers, with the assistance of a few errors by our boys gave the visitors a very discouraging lead. Then the home boys took a brace, and notwithstanding the fact that there were very many errors as errors, they managed to hold the visitors where they were until the tenth inning.

Dolin did some good work at the stick, and Powell upheld his batting reputation of last season, making several safe hits. McConnell in the pitchers box did some good work and threw a good steady game. Willie Little Mac stopped everything that passed the batter.

The coons played a good steady game all the way through and there was really no time when the home team stood much of a show of beating them. Their game is played with considerable snap and good team work is done at all times. They made two double plays, and the home boys made one. There was a good crowd out, although not as large as should have been.

Soon Manufacture Ice Cream.

The Chambers Creamery Co., have received their ice cream manufacturing machinery and have got it into place and expect to begin the manufacture of ice cream tomorrow. By the day following they expect to be able to supply any demand for ice cream that may occur.

Their freezer has a capacity of six hundred gallons per day, which will probably supply the demand in this neighborhood for some time to come. The freezer is one of the continuous kind that makes it possible to continue the operation without interruption as long as there is any mixture to freeze, the mixture going in at one end and coming out in the shape of ice cream.

The company will be compelled to install a larger motor than the one that is now operating the plant, as the new machinery recently installed uses quite an additional amount of power. There is no doubt but they will be able to supply the ice cream demands in this section for some time to come. They will sell only at wholesale in quantities from one quart up, to suit the purchaser.

George Krieger Married.

George F. Krieger left on Saturday evening for Chicago where he will be united in marriage to Miss Ella Bielefeld, of that city. They will return to this city in the near future and make their home.

Lots on Installments.

In another column will be found an advertisement for Richard Wiperman, who is offering some choice lots for sale on an entirely new plan. Those having only a small amount to invest will find this an easy method of acquiring a piece of property.

Nationals Prove Easy Money.

The Nationals at Stevens Point and the Nationals at this city played a game of baseball at the fair grounds on Sunday afternoon and the Nationals proved to be the victors. The Nationals played better ball all around than the home team, but made most of their gains in the first part of the game when the locals had a lead in the box. The day seemed to be an off one for the Nationals and the visitors won it all over the field making six runs in the second inning and three in the third. Then Kneiser was put into the box by the home team and the score was kept down so that the visitors only got four more runs.

At the end of the ninth inning the score stood 11 to 0 and had the boys not come to pieces as they did in the first part of the game they might have been some show of their own. The game, which was impossible after the lead the visitors got. Notwithstanding the fact that the weather was uncomfortable, a crowd of about a good sized audience out to see the game.

Grand Rapids Cigar Co.

John Hildeman reports that the new company, which has been in a state of suspense for some days past, will probably be organized today and the name of the new concern will be the Grand Rapids Cigar Co. They have rented a building on First Avenue South on the west side in which the factory will be located for the present. At least enough stock has been subscribed to insure the success of the plan and there is every reason to think that it will prove a benefit to the town as well as to those who are interested in it.
